HIGHLIGHTS

GGR SAILORS

- Kirsten Neuschäfer (ZAF), winner of the GGR 2022 and first woman to win a solo, nonstop around the world race, made the news in major press around the world like CNN, the New York Times, The Times of India, Le Figaro and Le Monde.
- Abhilash Tomy (IND), 2nd in the GGR and Indian sailing legend, was frequently featured in Asian news. Known as 'Titanium Tomy' after his rescue during the GGR 2018, he successfully tied the loop this time despite getting nearly dismasted during the Prologue Race.
- Simon Curwen (GBR), winner of GGR Chichester Class and prominent sailor in the UK and France, dominated British news while leading the fleet through the Atlantic, Indian and Pacific Ocean. He had to stop in Chile for repairs but was the first boat back in Les Sables d'Olonne.

Share of Voice

Abhilash Tomy (IND)

Kirsten Neuschäfer (ZAF)

Simon Curwen (GBR)

Share of Voice measures how much of the conversation one competitor dominates compared to the GGR overall. Meltwater includes search engine appearances, pay-per-click ads and social media results.

GGR HOST PORT

- Les Sables d'Olonne, the host port of the GGR, became synonymous with Adventure around the world. The city's share of the overall PR Value (AVE) is 66 million EUR or 31 %.
- The media value for Les Sables d'Olonne in relation to GGR peaked slightly during the Race Village and greatly at the arrivals of the first GGR finishers, Simon Curwen, Kirsten Neuschäfer and Abhilash Tomy.

Les Sables d'Olonne AVE peaked during at the finish of the GGR.
